Rural Menasha Youth Hangs Self in Jail

Roger Beyer, 18, Had Been Held for Disorderly Conduct

CHILTON — A rural Menasha teenager jailed here on a disorderly conduct charge, took his own life late Sunday morning.

Calumet County sheriff authorities found Roger Beyer, 18, route 2, (Schultz Trailer Court), hanging from a steam pipe with a noose he had fashioned from his shirt.

The discovery was made when a jailer brought the youth's noon meal to the cell.

Chilton Rescue Squad attempts to revive Beyer failed. He was pronounced dead by a Chilton doctor.

The youth's death has been ruled a suicide by Leroy Hughes, Calumet County coroner.

Beyer was arrested about noon Saturday on charges stemming from a fight about 1:30 a.m. Saturday at his mother's mobile home. He had been injured in the disturbance and was picked up by police after his release from St. Elizabeth Hospital, Appleton, where he was treated, Calumet authorities said.

Beyer had arrived at the hospital only after a struggle with a Calumet County patrolman and ambulance attendant which lasted almost two hours.

Relatives called early Sunday morning asking for permission for Beyer's mother, a sister and an attorney to visit him later in the morning, authorities said.

About 10:30 a.m., his sister and brother-in-law arrived, chatted, brought him cigarettes and departed. He was alone after the visit, authorities said.

The William Funeral Home, Appleton, is in charge of arrangements.

Vietnamese, U.S. Soldiers Get in Brawl

SAIGON (AP) — American soldiers and South Vietnamese paratroopers fought each other with fists, bar stools and lead pipes tonight in an hour-long brawl near Saigon's waterfront.

American military police with jeeps mounting machine guns surrounded the area. Ambulances took away several bruised Vietnamese and Americans.

The area was declared off limits to all U.S. military personnel.

Witnesses said the brawl was triggered Sunday night when a Vietnamese paratrooper was knocked unconscious by American soldiers. A group of 30 to 40 Vietnamese airborne troops arrived and started hauling GIs from bars along the waterfront.

The Americans fought back, shouting insults at the Vietnamese.

De Gaulle Receives Good Reception on Arrival in Moscow

French President Begins 11-Day Visit for 'Closer Cooperation'

MOSCOW (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle said today he hoped his visit to the Soviet Union will make it possible to agree upon action to provide European security and assure general peace.

The French president was given an enthusiastic reception on arrival for an 11-day visit that will take him to Novosibirsk, Leningrad, Kiev and the site of the World War II battle of Stalingrad.

Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny said this country "attaches great significance to the coming talks." The Soviet Union and France "have a common approach to a number of problems of international affairs," he said.

Podgorny and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin greeted De Gaulle at the airport.

De Gaulle said in his airport address his visit "will give a chance to our two countries not only to join in ties that are economic, scientific and cultural but also to exchange opinions and concert actions on political subjects."

"Today we know as well as France and the Soviet Union and Europe and the whole world what is the significance of the visit which I have the honor to make," the French president declared.

In Moscow and while traveling with Kosygin, De Gaulle is expected to discuss European security problems, primarily the German question, and other subjects.

He will make his first major speech tonight at a dinner in his honor at the Kremlin.

New Agreements

French sources have said new scientific and cultural agreements might come from the visit, but there will be no treaty that need worry the Western allies.

Wearing his World War II uniform of a brigadier general, De Gaulle first saluted and then shook hands with Podgorny at the foot of his plane's ramp.

The French president smiled but there was none of the traditional French hugging and kissing on both cheeks. Then De Gaulle saluted and shook hands with Kosygin and other Soviet officials.

A 21-gun salute sounded as the Moscow military band played the Marseillaise, the French national anthem. The French tricolor waved in the warm breeze of a sunny day beside the Red Russian banner with a gold hammer and sickle.

De Gaulle held a stiff salute during the playing of the French and Soviet anthems. Podgorny, a short white-haired figure by the tall general, stood at attention with hands at his side.

Eau Claire Station Starts Use of New 2,000 Foot Tower

EAU CLAIRE — Television station WEAU-TV began broadcasting Sunday from its new 2,000-foot tower, tallest structure in Wisconsin and second tallest in the world.

The tower, located near the village of Fairchild about 30 miles southeast of Eau Claire, increases the station's potential audience by 83 per cent, according to station officials. It will bring NBC programming for the first time to Wisconsin River Valley communities such as Wausau, Wisconsin Rapids, Marshfield and Stevens Point, and also to the LaCrosse-Sparta area.

The tower is more than 500 feet higher than the Empire State Building, and is exceeded in the world's history of man-made structures only by a 2,069 foot TV tower in North Dakota. The antenna of the TV

Approval of 'Right to Know' Bill Expected in Congress

Policy Would Make Government Records Available to Public

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government agencies. Neither the House nor the Senate is expected to vote on final administration nor the House congressional approval today of Democratic leadership has taken a bill that would strengthen the right of Americans to find out what their government is doing.

The measure, termed a "free information" bill, would permit persons to demand information or "right to know" bill, would establish the federal court injunction forcing basic policy that government's disclosure and place the burden of proof in such cases on the public unless specific reasons exist for maintaining secrecy.

It comes before the House under a procedure that requires a two-thirds vote for approval. Existing information statutes are vague, and supporters of the new legislation claim present provisions intended to permit disclosure of information instead have been used to withhold it. The bill lists specific grounds on which information can be withheld.

The rest of the week's congressional calendar is somewhat crowded. The bill lists specific grounds on which information can be withheld.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today barred retroactive application of its new rules strictly limiting trial use of confessions.

House approval would send it to the White House.

Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., chief sponsor of the bill, said he knows of no opposition to the measure which enjoys broad bipartisan backing. Asked if he expected President Johnson to sign it, Moss said: "I do indeed."

92,000-Acre California Fire Is Contained

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Firemen have established a line on the 123-mile perimeter of a week-old mountain fire, containing the blaze that scarred 92,000 acres of rugged brushland.

Fire crews announced containment Sunday, but didn't estimate when the blaze might be controlled.

The fire started June 11 when a single-engine light plane crashed in a remote, under-dry wilderness area of Los Padres National Forest. Two Air Force enlisted men were killed in the crash; two others were injured. Fire officials reported that 15 men have been injured in treacherous terrain. One suffered a broken leg when a fire truck overturned.

Officials said the 1,800 men on the fireline would remain on duty until control appeared certain, especially after warm weather—temperatures near 100 degrees—hampered efforts Sunday.

With him was William Brown, Racine, an executive of Johnson's Wax Corp., and one of "seven or eight" industrial executives from around the state who have been invited by Kellett to a meeting on state legislative salaries.

Kellett talked calmly about the recent criticism that has fallen on his head since he invited reporters to leave a similar meeting in Madison last week. He called it "unfortunate." He said today's get-together will actually not be a meeting at all, but rather an informal discussion of how or for that matter, whether to approach the salary question.

Nelson Asks End Of Suggesting DDT for Pests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., says DDT should be erased from the Agriculture Department's list of recommended pesticides.

Sen. Nelson wrote Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman Saturday that there was evidence that DDT used by home gardeners, farmers and others had caused environmental damage and contaminated feed and food.

Latest Agriculture Department publications recommend DDT in 366 cases but suggest use of different pesticides in 343 other instances, Nelson said. "It is likely that new pesticides put on the market since May 1965 could replace DDT in all the other cases as well."

McNamara Would Not Call Reserve Troops

General Johnson Says Refusals Were in National Interest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional testimony confirms that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has rejected recommendations of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to call up Army reserves for duty in Viet Nam.

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Preparedness subcommittee, released Sunday night a heavily censored transcript of the Joint Chiefs' testimony during subcommittee hearings last May.

The transcript disclosed that the callup recommendation had been made three times since last spring by the four-star Joint Chiefs, although Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Army chief of staff, later conceded that McNamara's decision proved sound.

Johnson told the subcommittee that, although he had joined in the recommendations, he now believes the vetoes were "in the national interest" because "the declaration of an emergency and the mobilization of a powerful nation like the United States would send shivers and tremors throughout all the world."

Johnson also testified that McNamara was correct in assuming that the Soviet Union "would remain essentially non-belligerent" during the last year and a half.

Kellett Calm After Criticism

MENASHA — Sunshine and a light breeze off Lake Winnebago this morning created an atmosphere of calm that belied the storm of legal and political controversy that has erupted around William R. Kellett, retired Kimberly-Clark Corp. president.

Kellett sat placidly, dressed in short-sleeved shirt and white trousers, chatting on the sun-deck atop his boathouse at Winnelox Point at the end of Brighton Drive. ## Chief of State Signs Decree Setting Election Date; Monk Continues Anti-U.S. Fasting

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's troops tightened their hold on Hue today and sealed off the hospital room where the leader of the northern Buddhist revolt apparently bound for the Viet anti-American fast for a 13th day, after the unidentified trawler was driven aground in flames.

While the rebellion led by militant monk Thich Tri Quang appeared to lose more ground, Ky's military regime, pushed ahead toward promised civilian elections Sept. 11 on a wave of two attacks in the northern confidence voiced by Ky as he provinces.

A suicide squad of about 50 U.S. Marine artillery position the election date and providing nine miles northwest of the for a 100-seat constituent assembly to draft a constitution. The miles northeast of Saigon. A government, as expected, rejected the proposal of its election commission to allow the assembly to transform itself into a governing parliament.

Determination

The decree also showed the junta's determination to remain in power well into 1967 by requiring a second round of voting for a national legislature three to six months after the generals approve the constitution.

American forces continued to shoulder the major fighting. U.S. 101st Airborne Division units locked in a heavy fire fight with a Communist force of undetermined strength that attacked the paratroopers near Tuy Hoa, 240 miles northeast of Saigon, this morning.

Helicopters brought in more American troops as the fighting continued into the afternoon. There was no report on Communist losses but American casualties were described as light.

U.S. Air Force B52s spearheaded the air war by returning to jungles northwest of Saigon to pound a suspected Viet Cong troop and headquarters area. However, the Communists' "Liberation Radio," an objective of Sunday's B52 raid, was still heard broadcasting.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy says he supports President Johnson for reelection in 1968 and he plans only to run for the Senate in 1970.

Kennedy was met by newsmen Sunday at Kennedy Airport upon returning from a two-week overseas tour during which he visited South and East Africa, Athens and Rome. With him was his wife, Ethel.

National politics came up when the New York Democrat was asked to comment on an assertion by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., that he would consider supporting Kennedy in the 1968 presidential race if his views on Viet Nam remained the same.

Kennedy has been a critic of administration policy in Viet Nam.

Best Hand At Matches Explained

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

During the world championship, played last month in Italy, five teams competed. Each played a match of 140 hands against each of the other four teams. Altogether, 1,400 hands were played, and the hand shown today is my nomination for the best played hand of the entire tournament.

Bob Hamman, at 29 the youngest player in the tournament, played the South hand at three notrump. West led the queen of diamonds, and an audience of 500 kibitzers watching all four hands on a huge display board fully expected Hamann to go after the club and go down.

South could expect to get three spades, two hearts, two clubs and one diamond. He could develop his ninth trick in clubs if either opponent had a singleton or doubleton club honor or if the six missing clubs broke 3-3.

If the clubs broke badly, however, playing the clubs would give the defenders two clubs, two diamonds and the ace of hearts.

Good Assumption

Right from the start Hamman assumed that the club would break badly. The opening bid and the opening lead indicated that West had length in both spades and diamonds. There wasn't much room in his hand for clubs.

Hamman won the first trick. Actually, West led diamonds, so in dummy with the king of that Hamman eventually got the diamonds, cashed the top ten of diamonds as his ninth spades and led the king of trumps, thanks to Hamman's hearts. West refused the trick, making a play West had noth and Hamman next cashed dummy, but spades and diamonds, so my s top clubs. Then he led that he had to give declarer the another heart, and turned the ninth trick no matter what he lead over to Pietro Forquet, the led.

Butter Ball Held at Riverview

Wisconsin provides ample party themes as the Riverview Country Club social committee is discovering this season in carrying out the theme 'Wisconsin We Like it Here' Saturday evening marking June Dairy Month the club held a Butter Ball.

Decorations were keyed to the dairy industry with props shipped in from Milwaukee and wherever they were available. There was a dairy necklaced cow, stacks of hay, milk pails and posters all designed to provide a rural atmosphere.

Name-Personality Analysis Theory Proves Untrue for Ann

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A friend of mine has a theory that may sound nutty on the surface, but the more I think about it, the more I believe there is something to it. This friend says she can tell what a person is going to be like before she meets him just by hearing his name.

For example, she says all men named Burt are penny-pinching tightwads. I know of two fellows named Burt and she is right about them. On the other hand she claims that she has yet to meet a cheap Larry. She says, "All fellows named Larry are very generous with money and will fight for the one she loves. No matter who is around."

Chancys are prissy and Bobs are over-nights or downright are virile. Eliots are mamas' boys and any man named Frank can have his choice of women.

Landers

This friend insists she has never met a guy named Albert who wasn't a jerk.

Joannes are sexy and Esthers are stupid and cow-like. Girls named Faith, Hope, Charity, Prudence or Honor, she insists, phony. According to her, names like that give a girl two strikes in the cradle.

The flower girls, as she calls them, (Rose, Lily, Violet and Daisy) talk a lot and are boring. Girls with boy's names like Jackie, Mickey, Johnnie and Jo are good company, full of pep and well liked.

Before you say my friend is out of her tree, so through the names and check them against people you know. I'll bet you will find she is right most of the time. How about it? — Former Non Believer, Converted

Dear Converted: I was rather enjoying your friend's theory — until I came to Esther. That just happens to be my name. Furthermore I didn't like what she said about Mr. Einstein, either.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your reply to Mrs. Countdown, the wife who was being driven crazy by her husband's nightly grinding of teeth, was frivolous, unenlightened, facetious and when you get right down to it, of no earthly help whatsoever.

There are appliances on the market which can prevent teeth-grinding. These appliances will enable the woman's husband to keep his teeth throughout his entire life span. It's too bad you don't know about them. Ann Landers, A. M. D.D.S.

Dear A.M.: You are correct when you say my reply to the wife was inadequate, but yours, sir, is only half right.

Your flat statement that the appliance will solve the problem for all time is much too optimistic. Teeth grinding cannot be cured by the appliance. It will provide only temporary relief. A cure can be effected only if the cause of the teeth-grinding is determined and corrected. Most grinding is due to an improper alignment of the bite. And some people grind away because of an emotional problem.

If it's the first reason, the patient needs a dentist to correct his bite. If it's the second, he needs a doctor who will work several inches higher up in the head. And this reply comes straight from my dentist's mouth.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Plastic Pipe Not Suitable For Ground

By Roger C. Whitman

When the man was installing the TV antenna on our house, a few weeks ago, he asked if I had a good grounding leading to the well. This, he says, is the very best grounding you can have, in case of lightning.

I showed him an outside faucet connected to the pipe from the well. "I hope it isn't plastic pipe underground to the well," he said. "The other day I was installing at a house, where I found the supply pipe was plastic. Furthermore, his lightning rod system was also connected to it."

That man was pretty upset when I told him his grounding was useless. In other words, friends, just ask your plastic piping to carry water. Don't try to make it double as an electrical grounding; it won't because it can't.

Q: We just had some new kitchen cabinets hung up. They are unfinished, made of birch. How can I protect them against the usual grease spots and other kitchen wear and tear?

A: Many types of finish for a natural appearance, showing the wood. One is a sealing coat or two of pure, fresh, white shellac followed by several sprayings of clear plastic.

Or you can use two or three thinned coats of clear varnish, gloss, semi-gloss or semi-flat. For colors, use enamel undercoater, followed by top quality enamel. Be sure to do inside as well as exterior.

Q: I assured my wife I could replace the worn top of her dresser with Formica. She doubted. I succeeded pretty well. But somehow I managed to let some contact cement work down on the side, where it looks bad. When I couldn't get it off at all, I began to lose all my credit for the nice Formica job I did. Can you get me out of the doghouse?

A: Until recently, I'd have said try very careful, patient sanding. But now there's a cleaner-solvent which removes contact cement from most surfaces. It's available at hardware and paint stores. Also good for removing dried adhesive from brushes and tools.

Q: I'm interested in the dry-ice method you described for removing asphalt tile. Will this also remove the adhesive, or must I sand off the remains before beginning the new tiling?

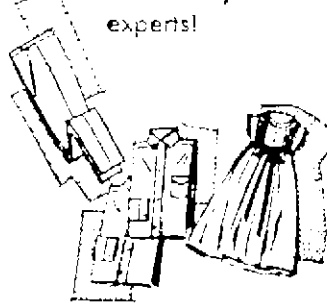

A: This dry ice will make, usually, about 85 per cent of the adhesive residue brittle enough so you can scrape it off with a putty knife or scraper. It's enough so you can proceed with the new tiling, except for any fairly high, stubborn lumps. Instead of sanding, try chipping these away, with hammer, taps and a putty knife.

Teen Suggests Youth Might Aid Delinquents

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Al was as if she was saying "I can collage with animals, the other her steady beau, a Boston youth to youth program might bring errant juveniles to their senses. Young drug addicts and other misguided delinquents might react favorably because they'd probably rather listen to young people their own age than their elders," says pretty Margaret Dempsey, 19, daughter of Connecticut's governor, John Dempsey.

"It's at least worth a try," says Margaret, a Luci Johnson look-alike. "As it is now, there's such a big age gap between the young people and those trying to help them."

A freshman at Hartford College for Women, she is active in programs for blind teenagers and adult mental patients.

Cites Model Program She thinks a youth-to-youth program is something that would need to be worked out carefully, but it might work like the "Companion" program in which she is involved at Connecticut Valley Hospital in Middletown.

As a "Companion" to mental patients one can choose to have either their "own personal person" or to be with a group of youths visiting a ward. Margaret chose one person. The woman, 42, has been at the hospital for 11 years. The idea is that the companion should stimulate the patient to do something — play cards or games or to read magazines.

"We hit it off great because she wanted to play bridge and I didn't know how. It gave her great pleasure to teach me. It do that and you can't."

Celebrate Birthday

When the woman, a diabetic, had a birthday recently, Margaret found there are such things as dietetic birthday cakes. They took it and some soda out on the lawn.

At the end of a visit, she and two other girls and three boys from Wesleyan University who are accompanying that day meet in a group with the psychologist to review their visit and exchange ideas about the patients.

"The thought of working in a mental institution doesn't appeal to most young people. They think it is depressing. But after one visit, they'd change their minds," Margaret says.

Patients' Art

Ten of the art works in the governor's 20-room residence were done by mental patients. In the sun room there are two to a delightful cheery woodland she enjoys and for dates with house are scenes, and houses.

"Young people should get over being so all-concerned with themselves, never giving a thought to others. The feeling that you have something within you that can help a human being is a great feeling in itself," says Margaret.

It's the same idea with the blind youngsters, 16 and 17, that she helps at Oakdale School and summer camp. People are forever saying that "it must be depressing."

Blind Teens

"These kids aren't dreary. They are the cheeriest people you'd ever want to meet. They aren't any more depressed than we are. They read and enjoy tin Braille the same books and games that we like."

Margaret has plenty of time to go horseback riding which she enjoys and for dates with

"Extra-curricular interests help you decide what you want to do when you go to college," she advises. "It is a very difficult decision. I have changed many times. In high school, I wanted to be an English teacher. Then I wanted to be a psychologist. But I've decided that isn't necessarily for me either."

One reason she chose a junior college, she says, is to have two years to decide what studies she'd want to pursue in a senior college.

A high spot of the weekend was a late dinner Sunday night. Lynda and George joined actor Glen Ford, actress Inger Stevens and friends about 9:45 p.m. in a motel restaurant.

Hamilton, Ford and Miss Stevens are on location for a Civil War film. Hamilton escorted Lynda to the camera site Saturday.

Kanab is a community of some 1,300 residents near the Utah-Arizona border. For more than 30 years its surrounding multicolored hills have formed the backdrop for Western movies. Townfolk pay scant attention to celebrities.

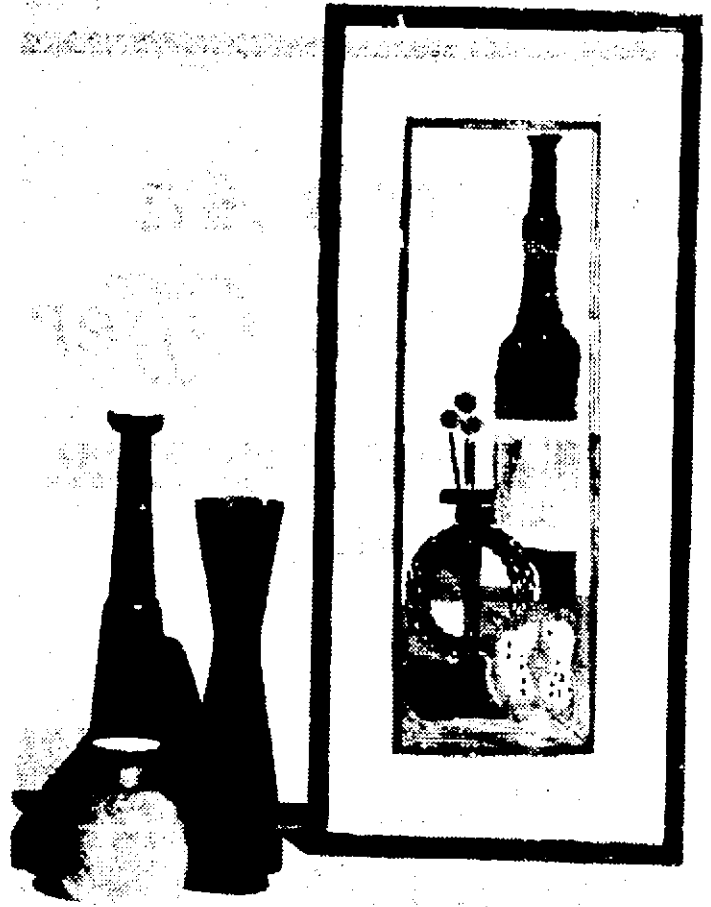

Lynda and George arrived in Kanab Saturday morning aboard a private jet plane.

They traveled 30 miles into the depths of Zion National Park's sheer cliffs. George was dressed in a gray Confederate officer's uniform for his movie role.

Refraction of the Eyes Used in Fitting Glasses

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D. compensate for the faulty lens. Dear Dr. Molner: What is in the eye. If light is being bent refraction of the eyes and why too much, the glasses compensate by making it bend a little less.

Refraction is the bending of light as it passes from one transparent material into another. When swimming, haven't you ever looked down into the water at an angle? You see a stone on the bottom.

When you reach for it, you find that it isn't exactly where

In practice, this is done by having you look through an instrument which somewhat resembles a pair of field glasses. By substituting different combinations of lenses in this instrument, he soon finds the combination which lets you see most clearly.

Then glasses are made for you which have the same effect as this combination of lenses.

If you are told that you "should have a refraction," and are concerned about it — don't worry. All it means is that as you look through this instrument and the doctor finds out what kind of glasses will be best for you.

Dear Dr. Molner: Does brain damage cause other organs of the body to not function normally? Like the glands, the stomach, or the lungs? — MRS. G. H. N.

It can, but this depends on what part of the brain is damaged. The cortex or upper part of the brain can be damaged severely, yet if a portion of the brain which controls the more "automatic" functions of the body, then those functions will continue normally.

Dear Dr. Molner: Should one with diabetes in mild form refrain entirely from alcohol? — G. P.

It is best to do so. For diabetes in other than mild forms alcohol should be avoided completely.

Dr. Molner is happy to receive readers' questions, and whenever possible uses them in precise pattern. You still see, his column. However, due to the great volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets he cannot answer letters individually.

Chester in 16th Year as Marquette Undergrad

By RUDI SCHIFFER
Associated Press Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Another Marquette University Commencement has come and gone and once again the name of Chester R. Budney was missing from the list of graduates.

But he may make it yet.

At least he'll keep trying. And he has friends. After all, after you've been a Big Man On Campus for some 16 years, you're sure to have quite a few friends. You're also likely to have a few enemies, and that fact may have been Chester's trouble this year. He flunked a course or two, and even had one little brush with the law, at quite an early age. Chester had a computer course and got top marks in Civil and Industrial Engineering. That helped him out the last year's shot when he flunked Chemistry A for spotty attendance.

Chester's pictures—all three of them different—appeared in the current yearbook, the Hill Top. He was posed with Triangle Fraternity, the Monitor Hall friends. You're also likely to have a few enemies, and that fact may have been Chester's trouble this year. He flunked a course or two, and even had one little brush with the law, at quite an early age. Chester had a computer course and got top marks in Civil and Industrial Engineering. That helped him out the last year's shot when he flunked Chemistry A for spotty attendance.

Anyways, Commencement is a time when he hasn't been with one of the few activities in as much as last year when a fraternity brother bought a 1960 car and transferred the title plates from a 1955 car to avoid buying a second set of plates. He then told, since the older car had been sold to the fictitious Budney, he had taken the title plates to Nashville, Tenn. How Chester, a from Hinsdale, Ill., and the degree in tell through Chester was exonerated and kept his police record clean.

Braves Bleachers

The incident didn't endanger Chester's job for this fall. He was appointed to be in charge of construction of additional bleachers for baseball fans at Milwaukee County Stadium. However, the market for this field has deteriorated in Milwaukee, and Chester might go south. He always was a Braves fan.

Fraternity brothers said Chester said he thought the Green Bay Packers stadium might make better use of his slide rule.

Chester plans to enroll in summer school and wait for the best bleacher building offer. If he ever does graduate he may be replaced by Ralph Buckets, another unusual student who showed up as an entering freshman last year.

man is on very shaky ground. Very Shaky indeed. Miss Turner also belongs to the school of fiction.

Charlotte Chester also found time to be a member of the Institute of Electronics, Electrical Engineers. He has, according to Zilly, three charge plates in major Milwaukee stores and an official student number.

GI Bill

Even though Chester has no draft status and didn't take the recent draft deferment examination, nobody questions his patriotism. He's attending school under the GI Bill.

Budney, known to some as the "laddy" in the computer age, has been blamed for many things. He caught the attention of police this year, but it was a bum rap. A fraternity brother bought a 1960 car and transferred the title plates from a 1955 car to avoid buying a second set of plates. He then told, since the older car had been sold to the fictitious Budney, he had taken the title plates to Nashville, Tenn. ## Youth Found Slain in Ditch At Superior

SUPERIOR (AP)—Michael Fisher, 14-year-old newspaper carrier, was found slain in a ditch Sunday night beside an unpaved road in a secluded section of the city.

Police said he had been severely beaten about the head and that one of the wounds could have been caused by a bullet.

The boy's father, George Fisher, Jr., had reported him missing Sunday morning after Michael failed to return from his Duluth, Minn., News Tribune route.

Michael's sister looked for him in the morning and found his wagon still loaded with newspapers. He apparently had delivered only one paper that to a house in front of which the wagon was found. The girl finished delivering the route and then returned home.

Two youths discovered Michael's fully clothed body as they walked along the road. Police said Michael's sweatshirt had been pulled over his head.

Asst. Police Chief Georg Day said no arrests had been made.

Michael had completed the eighth grade in a parochial school.

Warn Against Burglaries

Summer may be most persons' favorite season of the year, but those persons in charge of burglaries in their tasks and therein lies the rub.

Today is the beginning of Burglary Prevention Week, as police departments across the nation remind citizens to keep alert during the summer.

Vacation periods are a favorite time for burglars and sneak thieves to strike.

Simple Precautions

Local chiefs add that a few simple precautions before vacationing or leaving home for a short period can cut the risk of being burglarized.

The local police department the key to added protection during the summer.

The problem occurs when some homeowners almost send burglars in uninvited in their homes by leaving doors and windows open during warm weather while they are away.

Keeping the home locked is one of the four steps law enforcement officials suggest to safeguard possessions which vacationers leave at home.

Police also advise:

- Give the home a lived-in look.
- Reduce risk.
- Tell the right people.

A timing device to control lights can help to give a home a lived-in look. Newspaper, milk and other deliveries should not be cancelled while other weekly activities should be set up with neighbors or friends so the house looks occupied.

Risk can be reduced by the use of safe deposit boxes and maintaining a list of serial numbers for appliances and tools.

But the best bet is inform and police and neighbors that the house will be vacant. After all, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

Medical Center Planned on S. Side

$190,000 Facility at Park Plaza To Provide Space for 20 Offices

A $190,000 medical center is being planned for Park Plaza on the south side of Appleton, and construction is scheduled to begin in early fall.

Park Plaza Medical Center will have offices for about 20 physicians, dentists and specialists, officials of Theodore Utschig and Son Inc., general contractor and developer of the center, said today.

A supermarket and drug store are already at the site in the 1800 block of S. Lawe Street.

The new medical center will be connected to the food and drug stores by a covered breezeway.

The 120-by-120-foot building will be one level, with provisions for future expansion to the west.

It will be air-conditioned, and have a 60 by 52 foot interior closed mall, which will feature skylights, planters and benches.

Brick Structure

Offices will be designed according to occupants' plans. They will feature high illumination and gas heating. The structure will be of brick construction with thermopane windows.

The parking area will be expanded and the plaza will have room for 500 cars.

Utschig officials say many inquiries have been received from interested doctors, especially from the downtown business area, who say they are interested because of the parking space available at the plaza.

There are no similar facilities on the south side.

The medical center building is tentatively scheduled to be ready for partial occupancy by the start of 1967, with full occupancy coming shortly thereafter.

The building represents the second phase of development of the property as a shopping center.

Police Warn of Confidence Game

2 Bilked in Fertilizer Deal

Appleton police today warned that there may be a new type of confidence game in operation in the Fox Cities.

The warning came after two elderly Appleton residents reported last week that they were charged unreasonably high prices for fertilizer that was put on their lawns. They said the prices charged after completion of the jobs were considerably higher than what they understood the original estimate to be.

Detectives said it appears that three men using a rented stake body truck approached the two parties and suggested unclear prices for fertilizing their lawns.

"On completion of the job, they quote an extremely high price, and then suggest that there must have been a misunderstanding concerning the original price," according to Lt. Robert Frailing.

Reports were not made to police until nearly a week after the work was done and paid for, it was learned.

Police said they intend to analyze samples of the materials put on the lawns. They stated that in checking with "reliable sources," they learned the prices charged by the trio were "very exorbitant."

Council to Consider Proposed Exchange

4-Hour Parking To be Proposed For Courthouse

Outagamie Officials To Make Suggestion To City Safety Unit

Four-hour parking around the Outagamie County courthouse "square" may be initiated soon as a means of combating a serious parking problem.

The measure will be proposed by Outagamie County officials at a Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Appleton City Council's public safety committee.

Members of the Outagamie County Board's public property and insurance committee will ask that the city seek an ordinance calling for four-hour parking on streets that make up the square. They are Walnut, Elm, Sixth and Seventh.

Placed Restrictions

The city, several months ago, placed two-hour parking restrictions on several streets in the courthouse area.

Property committee members are proposing that the parking on streets where it is hoped to have four-hour limits remain on an angle basis.

Hindering the courthouse parking situation is the fact that many persons who work in the downtown area leave their vehicles on streets near the square, according to committee members.

Man Injures Hip In Freight Yard

Mayor Calls Special Meeting Of Appleton Aldermen to Act on Exchange Between City, Utility

Mayor George Buckley today called a special meeting of the Appleton Council for Tuesday night to take action on a proposed land exchange between the city and Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co.

Last week the matter was referred back to the board of public works at the request of Ald. Al Stoegbauer (4th), who consider holding the special meeting, pointing out the next regular council meeting is not scheduled until July 6.

Under the agreement -- negotiated by the land negotiations committee of the board of public works -- the power company would get the old No. 1 fire station property at Oneida and Washington streets, plus $112,500.

Wisconsin - Michigan Power Co. in turn would turn over two homes on Prospect Avenue and the old gas plant property in the "industrial flats" to the city.

The power company wants the downtown property for future expansion plans for its administrative offices and service center.

Property in the "flats" is of prime interest to the city because it is adjacent to a municipal treatment plant where a $1 million addition is being planned. In addition, the houses on Prospect Avenue are situated on land which may be needed for the proposed new Oneida Street bridge project within a few years.

Initial Objectors

Some aldermen at first objected to the city "throwing in" the $112,500 but changed their minds when informed the property in the "flats" would eventually be paid for by the Appleton Water Utility.

The utility, which is undertaking a $1 million expansion project, is expected to be completed by the end of 1967.

'Find a Place for Themselves'

Center Helps Handicapped With New Summer Program

Helping handicapped youngsters find a place for themselves in the world is the aim of the summer recreational program of the Outagamie County Sheltered Activities Center.

For many youngsters, the beginning of June signifies an end of school for at least three months.

But for pupils enrolled at the Sheltered Activities Center, June marked the beginning of the center's summer program.

This will be the first real summer program in the organization's short history. Last year the school's summer schedule was merely a continuation of its school year program.

During the summer of 1966, however, the center is accepting pupils who are enrolled in special education programs in institutions such as Plamann and Morgan schools during the regular school terms.

Fox Cities Must Solve Problems, Editor Says

Future of Area Hinges on Development, Diversification, Torinus Tells Lions Club

The future of the Fox Cities hinges on whether or not they can solve the problems now facing them, John Torinus, editor of The Post-Crescent and president of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, told the members of the Lions Club at noon today.

Speaking on "The Future of the Fox Cities," Torinus listed some of the major problems of the metropolitan area.

"Redevelopment and modernization of our downtown business areas is necessary," he said, "if we are to compete with Green Bay and Oshkosh."

Industrial development with greater diversification in the entire area also is necessary, he said.

"Expansion Purposes"

"Here emphasis must be placed on local industry, which should acquire additional land for expansion purposes," Torinus said.

Continued development of the Outagamie County Airport in

The reason for summer expansion was to enable pupils from other schools to continue their education throughout the summer," explained Miss Rita Palmbach, center director.

A youngster wishing to enroll at the center for the summer must be 16 years old and classified as mentally retarded, palsied or epileptic.

He also must be able to participate in the type of classes the center offers. The fee is $5 a month.

Transportation Difficult

There are no district restrictions for pupils. However, transportation is difficult.

"The state reimburses us for 40 per cent of our costs, but this does not include our transportation expenses," Miss Palmbach said. "Consequently, we are now serving primarily Outagamie County."

Crafts, physical recreation and household duties are the three general categories making up this year's summer program.

Specific activities include instructions in swimming, bowling, leather crafts and mosaics, attending baseball games, trips to the library, picnics, and participating in household chores at the center such as dusting, vacuuming, washing windows and preparing a portion of every meal eaten at the center.

Trip to Hatchery

Climaxing the summer's activities will be a trip to the state fish hatchery at Wild Rose.

Miss Palmbach also has arranged a social gathering with one of the other schools for retarded in the Fox Valley area.

"Our main purpose is to help the students learn everyday skills and develop as individuals to the best of their capacity," she stated.

"If this is achieved they will be able to find a place for themselves in the world. This goal can be carried through the summer activities especially," she said.

Police Meet Marchers at Baraboo Plant

Picket Ends 4-Day Trek From Madison For Demonstrators

BARABOO, Apri — A police blockade blocked anti-war demonstrators from entering an ammunition plant Saturday in a peaceful and sometimes comical confrontation.

The demonstrators staged a three-hour sitdown when Sheriff Merle Spencer told them, "You can picket to your hearts content."

While a line of officers stood with night sticks in hand, Spencer passed out honorary junior deputy cards to some of the scampering children of the peace marchers.

The marchers sang and chanted, but mostly sat. They got up and went home by sundown.

The demonstration came at the end of a 40-mile, four-day march from Madison to protest the reactivation of the 6,000 Ordnance Works to supply ammunition to troops in Viet Nam.

Seventeen marchers had left Madison the first day. Newcomers Saturday swelled the total to 45, not counting children for the last three miles of the trek.

Spencer told the demonstrators that they couldn't enter the gunpowder plant for safety reasons.

"I am not allowed in there either," he said.

The march was led by John White, 28, a part-time teacher at the University of Chicago. Capt. Sidney I. Davis in charge of the ordnance works refused to comment.

$2,600 AAL Grant Will be Used to Spur Religious Vocations

Aid Association for Lutherans has granted $2,600 to the Church Vocations Association to carry on a program of promoting church vocations among Lutheran youth.

The grant is the third given by AAL to the intercollegiate organization which attempts to interest Lutheran youth in full-time church careers through campus visitations, tours and distribution of materials explaining the need for dedicated church workers. The group received $1,000 in 1963 and $5,000 in 1964.

Under the program, students from schools operated by The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod visit Lutheran student groups on other campuses. Local chapters of the Church Vocations Association also make long distance tours during quarter breaks and summer vacation periods, trying to contact youth beyond the convenient reach of individual colleges.

BY FRANCIS MCKUSICK WASHINGTON — Wisconsin Democrats would have officially supported President Johnson's policies regarding Viet Nam if a vote had been taken on the issue early in the convention recently held in Madison.

That opinion was expressed by Rep. Clement J. Zablocki (D., Milwaukee) during an interview in which he held a post-mortem on his party's activities during its meeting at Madison.

The vote on Viet Nam was timed wrong, Zablocki, who is a member of the House Foreign Affairs committee, complained. It was taken during the last hours of the convention after many of those who lived one day of Madison had left for home.

Noting that the majority of those remaining at the conference were residents of Madison and were so-called intellectuals from the University of Wisconsin, Zablocki said he was sure that no one believes the Democratic Party in Wisconsin endorses all the views of these men and women.

For this reason, he believes that if the Viet Nam issue had

Newcomer Tom Dix Sets Pace

By TIM PETERMANN
News Record Staff Writer

A crowd-pleasing 2-for-3 performance by a group of sky divers prior to the Fox Cities Foxes Midwest League game at Goodland Field Sunday afternoon was duplicated by the latest addition to the club, Tom Dix, during the game, as he led his new teammates to a 7-1 victory over Cedar Rapids.

The Paraglider Sky Diving team drew tremendous applause from the 1,317 Father's Day fans when two of the three members parachuted from 7,200 feet and landed within a few feet of the planned target second base. The third member missed the mark but still landed in the ball park down the left field line.

Dix, a 5-11, 170-pound shortstop third baseman, was activated just Sunday after pitcher Greg Bennett was placed on the disabled list with a sore elbow.

In his debut in the Foxes uniform, he collected a 2-run homer and a run-producing single in three official trips to help advance the Foxes' 7-1 game in front of second place Burlington (which lost to Decatur in the Foxes' bid for a first round pennant).

The Foxes will begin their last home series of the first round tonight when they meet the Quad Cities' Angels in a 'Ladies' Night and Family Bleacher Night' attraction slated to begin at 8 p.m.

The home run by Dix, which came in the eighth all but clinched the game for the Foxes after Cedar Rapids had come back from a 4-1 deficit to tie the score in the top of the inning.

Bill Bracy, a standout at the plate for the losers, opened the coming 4th inning by hitting a home run for the first pitch of the scoring inning for a home run over the left center field fence.

The 10,000 crowd stood until the eighth half of the third. Rath cracked a single up the middle to lead off in the first.

Al Kristovick popped out.

Stargell's Homer in 11th Lifts Pittsburgh Past Atlanta, 2 to 1

Harry Walker didn't take to Willie Stargell's puppy but he certainly doesn't mind his being the top dog.

Stargell was just that today after his leadoff homer in the 11th inning gave the Pittsburgh Pirates, his seventh against Atlanta, five losses with a five-hitter. He gave him the National lead at a shutout until the eighth when Hank Aaron tied the game.

European Foreign Policy Challenged By De Gaulle Visit

Hearing on NATO, Demands for Summit Meeting Stress Concern

WASHINGTON (AP) — With French President Charles de Gaulle's Moscow visit dramatizing tensions on both sides of the Iron Curtain, the administration's European policy faces new challenges in the Senate today as outworn and frozen.

Hearings on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization — one in the House, two in the Senate — and calls for a Johnson De Gaulle summit meeting stress U.S. concern with NATO problems since France pulled out of the alliance's military structure.

But the concern is tied in with Capitol Hill frustrations about the high costs of the U.S. world-wide commitment and the failure of its European allies to join in Viet Nam.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee opens its hearings on NATO and European problems today by questioning George Bundy, former foreign policy adviser to Presidents Johnson and John F. Kennedy.

Educational Hearings

Bundy is the first witness at what committee chairman J. W. Fulbright calls educational hearings — the same term he applied to his sessions on Viet Nam and Red China.

Fulbright said the hearings are intended to focus attention on the problems facing the United States and Europe today — a Europe that is going through profound changes in political relationships.

The committee set the stage for its hearings by sending Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, to Europe last month to talk with government leaders, including De Gaulle.

Upon his return, Church said, many Europeans feel the United States is not moving with the times.

Democrats Don't Endorse Gov. Rolvaag

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Lt. Gov. A. M. (Sandy) Keith launched his campaign to become governor of Minnesota today after winning endorsement in the bitterest of all Democratic Farmer Labor party conventions.

Keith, 37, shattered tradition Sunday night by winning the endorsement away from Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag, 52, who sought party backing for a second term.

It took 20 ballots and 30 hours of convention time to settle the feud between the two men who were running mates in 1962 when Rolvaag won his first term by a scant 91 votes.

The fight shunted all other convention business aside. The delegates will be called back in two or three weeks to finish up.

Minnesota Republicans open their convention Thursday. Both parties will officially nominate their candidates in the Sept. 13 state primary.

Never in Minnesota political history has a party denied endorsement to an incumbent of the office, and never has it taken so many ballots to endorse a candidate. Probably never has the party faced such a job of healing the political wounds.

One of the party's founding fathers, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, stayed out of the fight. Rolvaag didn't stay around for the amenities. He flew to Cincinnati, Ohio, where he presides today over the Midwest Governors' Conference.

Comedian Dies at 79 Ed Wynn Wanted to be Recalled by Children as Roly-Poly Funnyman

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — During his last three months, he wouldn't let his three young granddaughters come to see him. His appearance had changed, and he couldn't talk. He wanted them to remember him as the roly-poly funny man.

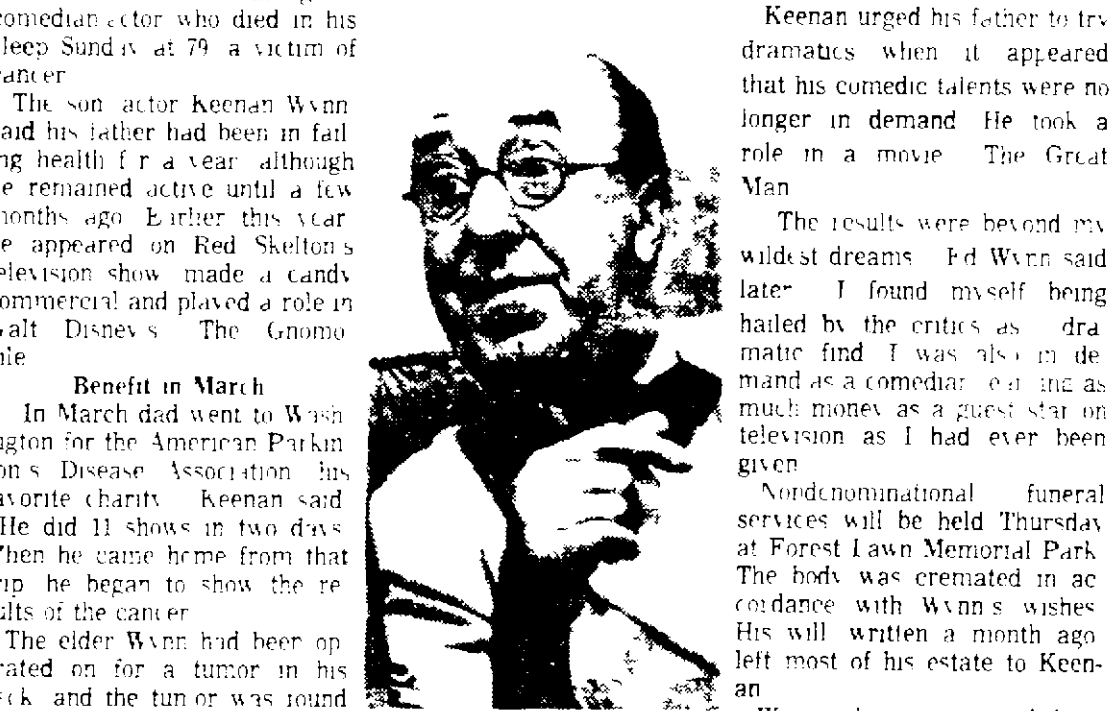

This was a son's remembrance of Ed Wynn, the great comedian actor who died in his sleep Sunday at 79, a victim of cancer.

The son, actor Keenan Wynn, said his father had been in failing health for a year, although he remained active until a few months ago. Earlier this year he appeared on Red Skelton's television show, made a candy commercial and played a role in Walt Disney's "The Gnomobile."

Benefit in March

In March, he had gone to Washington for the American Parkinson's Disease Association, his favorite charity. Keenan said he did 11 shows in two days. When he came home from that trip, he began to show the results of the cancer.

The elder Wynn had been operated on for a tumor in his neck, and the tumor was found to be malignant. He spent the last three months in his Wilshire Boulevard apartment. He was visited there Saturday night by Keenan.

Ed Wynn when it seemed the vogue had passed him by, he turned serious and became a fine character actor.

Archbishop Won't Rival Polish Primate

By GENE KRAMER

OLSTYN, Poland (AP) — Archbishop Bleslaw Kominek Sunday night rejected the Polish Communist regime's attempt to build him up as a rival to Stefan Cardinal Wyszyński, the Roman Catholic primate of Poland.

Pope Paul VI and all the world's prelates have conferred confidence in the primate of Poland. Archbishop Kominek of Wrocław tried a crusade service at the Cathedral of Olstyn, the former East Prussian city of Allenstein.

The archbishop said the Polish bishops are completely united on vital questions and that recent press charges that Cardinal Wyszyński is against an accord between church and state are false.

The newspaper Warsaw Life said in an editorial June 8 which all Polish newspapers reprinted that Cardinal Wyszyński has demonstrated that he is incapable of bringing about a normalization of church-state relations. The editorial suggested that the clergy should follow leaders who favor church-state coexistence and cited Archbishop Kominek as an example.

The archbishop said the cardinal and all the Polish bishops are united in favor of a sincere dialogue in an open-handed spirit leading to normalization of relations.

Cardinal Wyszyński said in a sermon Sunday at Frombork, on the Baltic Sea coast, that the church is offering in open hand of peace but must have its freedom.

Speedboater Wins Regatta Posthumously Rex Manchester Had Predicted Victory In President's Cup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speedboat racer Rex Manchester, who had become tired of running second, said last week he was going to be a winner this season and expected his good fortune to begin with the President's Cup Regatta for unlimited hydroplanes.

His prediction came true Sunday but the 39-year-old former combat Marine from Seattle, Wash., who had never won a race in the big boat competition, did not live to see it.

Manchester, runner up for national honors in 1965 and second last week in Tampa's Suncoast race, was killed during the regatta along with three-time national champion Ron Musson, 38, also of Seattle, and Don Wilson, 37, Palmer Beach, Fla., a substitute driver.

Separate Accidents

The racers were killed in two separate accidents at speeds estimated at more than 150 miles per hour while driving their speedboats over the 2 1/2-mile course on the Potomac River.

Manchester, driving Notre Dame and Wilson, piloting Miss Budweiser, were killed in the championship heat in the approach to the second turn off National Airport.

Musson had just finished the first lap of an elimination heat when he radically designed Miss Bardahl exploded in front of the judges' stand.

Officials ended the race immediately after the Manchester-Wilson accident and later declared the winner based on points earned through the heat preceding the double fatality.

The results of the race with order of finish and points:

1. Notre Dame 800, 2. Miss Budweiser 700, 3. Tahoe Miss driven by Mira Slovak of Reno, Nev., 600, 4. Gale's Rooster 500, 5. Bill Cantrell of Detroit, 525, 6. Miss Chrysler Crew, 525, 7. Bill Sterrett of Oxnard, 495, 8. Miss Lapeer, 495, 9. Warner Gardner of Detroit, 495.

Red Arrow Starts 2nd Week With Governor's Praise

CAMP MCCOY (AP) — Wisconsin's Red Arrow Division plunged into its second week of summer military maneuvers today after winning praise from Gov. Warren P. Knowles.

Knowles reviewed the annual parade of 9,200 men of the 32nd Infantry Division in bright clear weather Saturday and called the National Guard's military appearance outstanding.

Knowles told the guardsmen assembled for the Governor's Day ceremonies: "You are obviously in excellent physical shape and also in an excellent state of preparedness."

The full division was to undergo mock combat drills in the field this week.

Knowles complimented the elite combat ready brigade on the superior rating it won in the initial drills. Army evaluation teams will grade the entire division this week on its performance under simulated attack including nuclear bomb ing.

U.S. to Prosecute In Rights Slayings Charges Based on 1866, 1870 Reconstruction-Era Legislation

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — The federal government will prosecute 17 men accused in the slaying of three civil rights workers in U.S. District Court here Sept. 26.

Judge Harold Cox, who previously dismissed charges against the defendants, will hear the case based on two century-old laws.

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled March 28 the government could prosecute those accused in the 1964 deaths of Michael Schwerner, Andrew Goodman and James Chaney under two laws enacted in 1866 and 1870.

The original indictments against the 17 men including three law officers had been obtained under Reconstruction-era laws.

An 1866 law made it a misdemeanor to act under cover of law "to deprive anyone of his constitutional rights setting maximum punishment of a $1,000 fine and one year in prison. An 1870 statute made it a felony to conspire to deprive anyone of his 14th Amendment rights without due process of law. It set maximum punishment at 10 years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine.

Judge Cox had dismissed the felony indictments against all defendants and had left misdemeanor indictments standing against Sheriff Lawrence A. Rainey of Neshoba County, Deputy Cecil Price, and police officer Richard W. Willis of Philadelphia, Miss.

The three civil rights workers disappeared June 21, 1964, after being released from the Neshoba County jail in Philadelphia about 35 miles northwest of here. Their bodies were found Aug. 4, 1964, at the base of a dirt levee.

Chaney was a 21-year-old Meridian Negro. Goodman, 20, and Schwerner, 24, both white, were from New York City.

Ortiz to Meet Bizzarro in Title Fight

Budding Politician Out Campaigning in Lightweight Bout

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

TSUBURGH (AP) — Carlos Ortiz, the lightweight boxing champion of the world, and Carlos Ortiz, the budding politician, will be out campaigning for single vote tonight against challenger Johnny Bizzarro of Erie, Pa.

Ortiz, a Puerto Rican born New Yorker, hopes to convince New York judges and a referee at the Civic Arena that he deserves to retain his 135-pound crown in 15 rounds, or less.

A candidate for the New York State Senate in the 29th district, Ortiz wants to remind the television viewer back home that he is on the June 28 Hamlin. The Indians scored in primary ballot.

The bout will be on national home television on Sports Net, with the Pittsburgh area blacked out. It also will be heard in Spanish and in English on radio hook-ups. Ring time is 10 p.m. EDT.

Title Favorite

Ortiz, a 29-year-old boxer, a puncher who is both a talented ring artist and a knockout.

Harmon Killebrew hit two homers in a 2-1 favorite in the homers and Don Mincher one as first defense of the title he won Minnesota defeated Chicago back from Emanuel Liguila last night in San Juan.

The 29-year-old champion who has a 43-51 record has been guaranteed $41,000 and 50 per cent of the television receipt.

White Sox

Wrightstown 27 with a 51-92 record get only $5,000 flat plus expenses and a crack at the title.

Legislative Salary Study Meetings Set at Menasha

Attorney General Is Rapped For 'Erroneous Statements'

MENASHA — A blue ribbon committee assigned by Gov. Knowles to study legislative raises with newsmen present.

Kaiser noted, however, that the meeting Wednesday simply had been adjourned and no closed session had been conducted.

To charge them with violating the law when they did not break the law is very serious," said Kaiser, who was present at the meeting.

The businessmen's committee, which has advised state officials on cost-saving efficiency improvements, had been asked to study legislative salaries after Gov. Warren P. Knowles said he would veto an abruptly passed bill boosting lawmakers' pay from $5,400 to $9,600 a year.

He specifically invited representatives of the press to attend.

LaFollette Erred
In another development, a high-ranking state official charged Friday that Atty. Gen. Bronson C. LaFollette erred seriously in accusing Kelle's advisory group of violating the state's anti-secrecy statute.

PIC up WC "George C. Kaiser etc."

George C. Kaiser, commissioner of the State Department of Administration, said LaFollette's charges had been based not on facts but on "erroneous statements."

LaFollette said in an opinion Thursday that the Kelle Committee had "flagrantly violated" the state's law against closed meetings of governmental bodies.

James E. Mulder, Oostburg, national executive committee member; Mrs. William Buckeridge, W. Boutwell, 16, route 2, Oconomowoc, department Auxiliary president; Arthur Jacob, Milwaukee, Grand Chief de Gare; and Mrs. May Hoffman, Milwaukee, director, 204.

The order of march for the parade which will start at 1:30 p.m. is as follows:

Massed colors; Shawano Poppy Princess; Fremont Poppy Princess; Clintonville Poppy Princess; Auburndale High near the Franklin Street intersection.

Struck Pole
Police said Helbach was traveling east on Center Street when he crossed the street and struck the pole, breaking it off.

After hitting the pole, Helbach left the scene of the accident but was found at his home a short time later.

The board also decided to have counters installed in both the grade school and central offices made locally for a total cost of $800, $450 for the central office and $350 for the grade school.

Blacktopping and widening of the track, blacktopping of the straightaways and the parking lot at the senior high school were discussed. Another drain for the parking lot also entered into the discussion.

The board decided to have Gibbons supervise the blacktopping and the drainage problem would be handled later.

John Buehrens then brought up the beautifying of the entrance to senior high which faces State 22. The board voted to include it in the budget for the coming year and to have shrubs planted in the fall with the total cost not to exceed $300.

Teaching Contracts
The board will offer a teaching contract with Faye Allen Antigo, for the 1966-67 year as a primary teacher. A contract will be given to Charlene Olson for halfdays of teaching.

Supt. Rawson reported on his visit to the Wisconsin Rapids Draft Board relative to one of the junior high teachers. He was advised that the draft board had been notified by the Federal Government that it was not aware of a shortage of teachers and no further confirmation was received.

Supt. Rawson reported that the work on the construction of the new school was progressing "very nicely." Rawson said he believed one part of the western wing would be ready by Aug. 1.

Board Head Threatens Resignation

HILBERT — The subjects of upgrading village streets and sewer and water extensions provoked several heated vocal outbursts involving village officials and residents at the village board meeting here last week.

The outburst started when Clarence Stengel, chairman of the street committee, presented a $4,000 bill for gravel to the board.

Orville Manz, village president, learning of the bill from another source prior to the meeting, threatened to resign because, "I am tired of hearing what is going on before I know of it myself."

He also threatened to "throw the book" at the trustees, outlining his official duties, saying, "Some of you fellows are going to get a few lessons."

Three Gravel Pits
Stengel told the board he and Merlin Plate, also of the committee, visited three gravel pits and later received the $4,000 price from Krepline Gravel Co.

Stengel said he did not discuss the bid with the committee members who were unable to visit the gravel pits.

Manz said he was not questioning the bill, which is considered reasonable.

At Stengel's suggestion, the board voted to pay $2,000 of the bill now and the balance at a later date.

The next verbal exchange came when Manz said sewage and water facilities could be extended to only one of three areas being platred, and the board indicated a rise in utility rates seemed inevitable.

Should Look Ahead
Leonard Suttner, editor of the local newspaper, criticized the use of the emergency entrance mismanagement. He cited several municipalities in Calumet County which have money to invest and said, "You fellows should be looking ahead a little."

Manz said other municipalities go into debt. Suttner replied that it is not what a municipality borrows, "It's the return you get for your investment."

Manz replied that "people need incentive to build in a small town," noting that added tax dollars were coming to the town because of the houses being constructed.

Residents on Third Street presented a waiver to the board to eliminate a special hearing regarding installation of curb and gutter on that street. All but one property owner signed the waiver and Stengel was appointed to explain the situation to the property owner.

Curb and gutter rates are $1.55 per foot and may be paid on a five-year installment plan.

with one-fifth down and four per cent interest. Curb and gutter recently was completed on Ninth Street.

Stengel was authorized to resurface Sixth Street. He also was asked to get prices on treating gravel roads. The village has $16,000 in its budget for street work.

The recently passed bicycle ordinance was cited when Plais stated three gas-propelled motor scooters were being illegally driven on village streets and causing a nuisance. The village marshal will be asked to investigate.

Portable Pool

A request by Russell Paylet to have 8,000 gallons of water hauled for a portable swimming pool was denied. The board said the village had no means of hauling the water and would be setting a precedent. Several persons now buy water from the village but haul it themselves.

The village clerk was instructed to write to the Milwaukee Road Railroad to cut weeds on its property. If not cut, the village will do the work and charge the railroad $8 an hour.

Determine Liability

Mrs. Mae Sattner will be contacted to determine what liability insurance the village carries on the Civic Park.

All liquor licenses were approved with one exception, where the applicant was two months behind in paying bills. The clerk was told to inform him of state laws governing licenses.

Manz reported that he had been informed there was a need for a new auxiliary well in the village for the firemen as the water table had dropped.

Trustee Schomburg felt a new pump was all that was needed. The board will meet with the firemen to discuss the matter.

Attends Convention

Willard Franz was authorized to attend the annual fire chief convention in Appleton July 10-13 at village expense. Ernest Pitzten will be sponsored by the local fire department.

Approximately 2,400 feet of water pipe costing more than $5,000 was received by the water utility this week. A load of sewer pipe was rejected by Manz because no one knew where it was ordered and decided the shipment was an error.

The purchase of a new lawn mower was approved.

However, investigating officers found that John Verheven had fallen onto the edge of the railroad ties while on his way home. Police said the train missed him by inches.

Postmasters, Firms to Study Mail Speedup

Appleton Session Called June 30 by Francis Sumnicht

Appleton Postmaster Francis Sumnicht has named postmasters and 200 letter carriers from the Fox Cities to a conference in Appleton June 29 to discuss improved mail service.

The session meets with a noon luncheon at the Conway Hotel and will mark the fifth anniversary of the Nationalade Improved Mail Service program.

Discussion topics will be how to improve mail service in the Fox Cities, state and nation; how to save postage and other time; how to use mail efficiently and effectively; and how to save money while complying with the ZIP Code requirements by Jan. 1, 1967.

First phase of the mail service plan was efficient use of postage, achieved by leveling daily volume peaks and reducing the 4 a.m. delivery. Second phase was introduction of the ZIP Code to facilitate automatic mail sorting.

The session also will offer pointers on knowing how to use the postal service effectively, as the post office in postage and on other and shipping operations.

AAL Grants $440 For Coffee House

Aid Association for Lutherans has granted $2,600 to the Church Vocations Association to carry on its program of assisting church vocations among La Crosse youth.

The grant is the third given by AAL to the inter-collegiate organization which attempts to interest Lutheran youth in full-time church careers through campus visitation, tours and distribution of materials explaining the need for dedicated church workers. The group received $1,000 in 1963 and $5,000 in 1964.

Under the program, students from schools operated by The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod visit Lutheran student groups on other campuses. Local chapters of the Church Vocations Association also make long-distance tours during quarter breaks and summer vacation periods, trying to contact youth beyond the convenient reach of individual colleges.

The term of Mrs. McGaffey expires, and a second member also will be elected to a two-year term this year. The board earlier adopted a resolution to have a fourth member elected to a full two-year term instead of having a member elected to fill in the unexpired term of Stenerson, who ran for two years.

The deadline for filing intention to be a candidate for the school board is 5 p.m. June 25. The intention to run for office must be in writing and filed with Mrs. McGaffey, clerk, route 2.

Gammey Hits Two Homers; Macs Cop, 4-2

MENASHA — Bill Gammey's three-run homer with one out in the last of the ninth gave the Menasha Macs a 4-2 non-league victory over the Freedom Macs Saturday night at the Menasha Ball Park.

The Macs dropped out of contention for first round honors in the Fox River Valley League by dropping a 15-2 loss, Citizens State Bank, Watertown, to Little Chute, Wis., Sunday afternoon.

Gammey also accounted for Menasha's Harvey P. Marsh, the Menasha's first vice president, and T. A. Nickerson, Freedom with a leader, home executive vice president, both in the eighth inning.

Gammey found the short right field fence for a three-run blast, Laughlin making his first mound start for the Menashians, set the losers down with four hits, struck out 11 and walked seven.

The Macs made five hits off Jim Brockman and Jim Ludwig but only had three until the eighth. Mike LeRoy had a second inning single, Joe Glych doubled in the sixth and Sorenson singled in the seventh.

92,000-Acre California Fire Is Contained

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Firemen have established a line on the 123 mile perimeter of a week old mountain fire containing the blaze that seared 92,000 acres of rugged brushland.

Fire crews announced containment Sunday, but didn't estimate when the blaze might be controlled.

The fire started June 11 when a single-engine light plane crashed in a remote, under- wilderness area of Los Padres National Forest. Two Air Force enlisted men were killed in the crash, two others were injured.

Fire officials reported that 15 men have been injured in treacherous terrain. One suffered a broken leg when a tire truck overturned.

Officials said the 1,800 men on the fireline would remain on duty until control appeared certain, especially after warm weather—temperatures near 100 degrees—hampered efforts Sunday.

Members of the Kellett Committee sat on the deck of the Kellett boathouse "office" this morning waiting for other committee members to arrive for a meeting scheduled "today" on legislative salaries. An assistant attorney general had ruled the meeting, to which Kellett invited members of the press, a violation of the state's anti-secrecy law. Kellett indicated the boathouse-office would be large enough for any of the public in-

McNamara Would Not Call Reserve Troops

General Johnson Says Refusals Were In National Interest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional testimony confirms that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has rejected recommendations of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to call up Army reserves for duty in Vietnam.

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Preparedness subcommittee, released Sunday night a heavily censored transcript of the Joint Chiefs' testimony during subcommittee hearings last May.

The transcript disclosed that the callup recommendation had been made three times since last spring by the four-star Joint Chiefs, although Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Army chief of staff, later conceded that McNamara's decision proved sound.

Johnson told the subcommittee that, although he had joined in the recommendations, he now believes the vetoes were "in the national interest" because "the declaration of an emergency and the mobilization of a powerful nation like the United States would send shivers and tremors throughout all the world."

Johnson also testified that McNamara was correct in assuming that the Soviet Union "would remain essentially non-belligerent" during the last year and a half.

The State Medical Society's monthly bulletin says doctors have no right to charge what the traffic will bear, but it indicates some may be doing so.

The editorial said some doctors are obviously seeking to establish that their usual customary and reasonable fees are higher than ever hoping to cash in on some of the governmental money that's going to flow into the health care field more abundantly in the future.

Political Storm

MENASHA — Sunshine and a light breeze off Lake Winnebago this morning created an atmosphere of calm that belied the storm of legal and political controversy that has erupted around William R. Kellett, retired Kimberly Clark Corp. president.

Kellett sat placidly, dressed in short-sleeved shirt and white trousers, chatting on the sun deck atop his boathouse at Winnebago Point at the end of Brighton Drive. With him was William Brown Racine, an executive of Johnson's Wax Corp. industrial executives "at large" and one of seven or eight industrial executives from around the state who have been invited by Kellett to a meeting on state legislative salaries.

Kellett talked calmly about the recent criticism that has fallen on his head since he invited reporters to leave a similar meeting in Madison last week. He called it "unfortunate." He said today's get-together will actually not be a meeting at all but rather an informal discussion of how-or for that matter, whether—to approach the salary question.

Atty. Gen. Bronson LaFollette, an assistant of LaFollette's and Democratic Lt. Gov. Patrick Lucey have publicly attacked the request that reporters leave the Madison session. George C. Kaiser, commissioner of the State Department of Administration, has defended Kellett and the conduct of the group.

Kellett is chairman of the Wisconsin Committee on Improved Expenditure Management, which has recently concluded a study of that matter and made its recommendation to the governor.

Today's session, which could extend into tomorrow morning, may result in formally creating a new subcommittee of the so-called Kellett Committee, with the eventual aim of submitting recommendations to the present group's executive committee, also headed by Kellett and appointed by Gov. Warren Knowles.

Kellett said he doubted all members of the working subgroup" as he calls it would arrive from various cities around the state until early afternoon.

Chief of State Signs Decree Setting Election Date; Monk Continues Anti-U. S. Fasting

SAIGON, South Viet. Nam Saigon, U.S. Coast Guard cutters (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Thieu signed a decree setting the election date and providing for a 108-seat constituent assembly to draft a constitution. The government, as expected, rejected the proposal of its electoral commission to allow the assembly to transform itself into a governing parliament.

While the rebellion led by militant monk Thich Tri Quang appeared to lose more ground, Ky's military regime pushed ahead toward promised civilian elections Sept. 11 on a wave of confidence voiced by Ky as he began his second year in office.

Senator Says He Will Not Run President in 1968

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy says he supports President Johnson for reelection in 1968 and he plans only to run for the Senate in 1970.

Kennedy was met by newsmen Sunday at Kennedy Airport upon returning from a two-week overseas tour during which he visited South and East Africa, Athens and Rome. With him was his wife, Ethel.

National politics came up when the New York Democrat was asked to comment on an assertion by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., that he would consider supporting Kennedy in the 1968 presidential race if his views on Viet Nam remained the same.

Kennedy has been a critic of administration policy in Viet Nam.

No Plans Said Kennedy "I have no plan to run for anything but the Senate in 1970 and I support President Johnson in 1968."

Kennedy said he had found "a great deal of concern" and "a lack of understanding" in Africa concerning United States policies in Viet Nam.

He termed the treatment of Negroes in racially segregated South Africa "heart-rending and

Rural Menasha De Gaulle Receives Good Reception on Arrival in Moscow

French President Begins 11-Day Visit for 'Closer Cooperation'

CHILTON — A rural Menasha teen-ager jailed here on a disorderly conduct charge took his own life late Sunday morning.

Calumet County sheriff authorities found Roger Beyer, 18, route 2, (Schultz Trailer Court) hanging from a steam pipe with a noose he had fashioned from his shirt.

The discovery was made when a jailer brought the youth's noon meal to the cell.

Chilton Rescue Squad attempts to revive Beyer failed. He was pronounced dead by a Chilton doctor.

The youth's death has been ruled a suicide by Leroy Hughes, Calumet County coroner.

Beyer was arrested about noon Saturday on charges stemming from a fight about 1:30 a.m. Saturday at his mother's mobile home. He had been injured in the disturbance and was picked up by police after his release from St. Elizabeth Hospital, Appleton, where he was treated. Calumet authorities said.

Beyer had arrived at the hospital only after a struggle with a Calumet County patrolman and ambulance attendant which lasted almost two hours. Relatives called early Sunday morning asking for permission for Beyer's mother, a sister and an attorney to visit him later in the morning, authorities said. About 10:30 a.m., his sister and brother-in-law arrived, chatted, brought him cigarettes and departed. He was alone after the visit, authorities said.

The Wichmann Funeral Home, Appleton, is in charge of arrangements.

Vietnamese, U. S. Soldiers Get in Brawl

SAIGON (AP) — American soldiers and South Vietnamese paratroopers fought each other with fists, bar stools and lead pipes tonight in an hour-long brawl near Saigon's water front.

American military police with jeeps mounting machine guns surrounded the area. Ambulances took away several bruised Vietnamese and Americans.

The area was declared off-limits to all U.S. military personnel. Witnesses said the brawl was triggered Sunday night when a Vietnamese paratrooper was knocked unconscious by American soldiers. A group of 30 to 40 Vietnamese airborne troops arrived and started hauling GIs from bars along the waterfront. The Americans fought back, shouting insults at the Vietnamese.

Eau Claire — Television station's sister station WEAU-TV began broad- casting Sunday from its new 2,000-foot tower, tallest structure in Wisconsin and second tallest in the world.

The tower, located near the village of Fairchild about 30 miles southeast of Eau Claire, increases the station's potential audience by 83 per cent, according to station officials. It will bring NBC programming for the first time to Wisconsin River Valley communities such as Wausau, Wisconsin Rapids, Marshfield and Stevens Point and also to the LaCrosse-Sparta area.

Farm Workers Pay Due for an Increase

BY SYLVIA PORTER

For the first time in the 28-year history of the U.S. minimum wage law, Congress is now moving to extend the law's coverage to farm workers at the very bottom of the wage-fringe ladder.

The House already has voted to include 400,000 farm workers, many of them appallingly poor migrant laborers, in this year's minimum wage law. "The farm worker's position has improved very little since John Steinbeck wrote 'Grapes of Wrath.' Not only are his wages drastically below the poverty level, but he still does not enjoy most of the basic economic protections the rest of us now take for granted: workmen's compensation, union representation, unemployment benefits, etc. This vicious cycle, which continues from generation to generation, is a national disgrace."

Would these big wage boosts for farm workers mean sharply increased food prices for the U.S. consumer?

Of course, no one can precisely foretell the impact on food prices in the years ahead. But as an indication, consider what has happened to food prices since 1964 when Congress ended the mass importation of foreign labor for crop-harvesting.

Between April 1964 and April 1966 the retail price of a No. 303 can of tomatoes, a key product of the farm worker, rose from 15.9 cents to 17.6 cents. The price of lettuce jumped from 21.7 cents to 24.4 cents over the same period. Similarly, there were significant price rises for strawberries and lemons, other products formerly harvested by foreign laborers.

The farm worker's family head averages less than $1,000 a year from farm work and only an estimated $1,500 from all sources when the earnings of his wife and children are added.

This is the black background against which the Congress is striving to raise the farm worker wage floor at least to the level of the industrial major foods affected by the 1964 bracero ban (and therefore the poverty wage scales of the nation's farm workers are headed by Emil A. Waken, who is sponsoring a bill during this period. This has history.

rise of 8.5 per cent in the cost to the U.S. consumer of all food at home since 1964.

Thus, concludes a study in the Labor Department's Employment Service Review, "it appears that the wages of farm workers can be increased substantially without significantly affecting food prices or the agricultural economy."

In this era of the rapid transformation of the small farm into big, efficient "agribusiness," the traditional subsistence farm is disappearing.

No Overcrowding Danger

State Will Need More Lawyers, Study Shows

MADISON — There is little danger of overcrowding in the law profession in the state, and the need for lawyers will probably increase.

This is the finding of the legal training and admissions committee of the State Bar of Wisconsin, which recently made a study on law schools in the state and their enrollment.

The committee urged that the University of Wisconsin and Marquette University law schools avoid any restrictions upon admissions to their classes for the purpose of limiting the number of lawyers.

"No Real Basis"

"The committee feels there is no real basis for any fear of overcrowding the legal profession," said the study group.

The committee studied the question of limiting law school enrollments after receiving reports upon the record number of admissions requests in recent years.

This year the UW Law School had a record total of 628 law students, and expects that the total may well rise to 1,000 during the next decade.

Applications were more than double the admissions, and at Marquette only about one-fourth of the applicants were admitted, the committee was told.

The committee also proposed that law schools provide more emphasis on trial practice procedures for their law students, and that the state bar set up a seminar to prepare law school graduates for admission to the bar.

The Anti-Pollution Bill

With members of the legislature now back in their home precincts an examination in order of their work on perhaps the top priority bill before the spring session, the anti-water pollution bill.

The final bill was passed in the typical legislative rush which takes place once a recess time is in sight. To this factor was added the political requirement for the parties to come up with some face-saving explanations in order to attempt to get credit for the bill because of the division in party control in the capital. Under these handicaps, the legislature did a commendable job.

It would have been an easy matter under the circumstances for a political deadlock to take place, for the legislature to recess, and for both parties to take the campaign stump this fall with accusations that there was no anti-pollution bill because of the hardheadedness of the opposing party. The six-member legislative conference committee which labored many days to arrive at a bill which was politically acceptable and the legislature's party leaders who saw to it that the bill was supported on overwhelming roll calls of 87-6 in the Assembly and 27-2 in the Senate are due credit for their work.

In the final analysis, the legislature acted because Wisconsin had demonstrated it wanted some form of a strong anti-pollution law. The argument in the capital, thus, was one of how best to administer the law, with partisan political considerations thrown in.

In its desire to see a new anti-pollution act on the books, chances are the public was not much impressed by the main point of partisan debate over the proposal of Gov. Warren Knowles for a new three-member commission against the Democratic plan for a single anti-pollution director. The compromise puts the anti-pollution program in the Department of Resource Development, with a seven-member policy board and a single director for anti-pollution work.

As a practical matter, what the legislature probably agreed to was a deferring of a final decision on this organizational matter until after the November election decides whether one party will have clear control of state government next year. The Wisconsin electorate will benefit if the parties clearly explain their positions on anti-pollution administration in the campaign this fall.

What is most important is that the compromise bill retains most of that which was asked for by the pollution study committee named by the governor. It provides for $6 million yearly in state money to pay interest on municipal borrowing for new pollution control facilities, it provides for fast tax write-offs for anti-pollution facilities installed by private industry, it provides for lake shore and flood plain zoning, and it provides for regional anti-pollution boards which will bring problems to the attention of the state board.

Politicians will try to assess the effect of passage of the bill on the fall elections. Democrats in the legislature denounced the governor's bill as a "package for polluters" and explained that the organizational changes were needed to protect the public, though it seemed details of these charges did not measure up to the labels. Republicans will point out that the bill came from a study committee named by the governor and that Gov. Knowles' expressed willingness to consider any compromise kept the bill alive.

But the fact is the bill gained support for passage from both parties because of public demand. This was properly summarized by Sen. Robert Warren of Green Bay, who served on the governor's study committee and the legislative compromise committee, during the last tired hours of the Senate's session.

"The people are not interested in what we say down here. The people are interested in problem solutions. This is not a perfect bill. But this is a pollution bill, a response to a problem," Warren said.

The bill, which should be promptly signed and put into effect by the governor, will show shortcomings once it gets detailed public and political examination and once it begins to operate. But it is a start against a state problem whose solution can no longer be delayed.

Laird's Poll on Viet Nam

While foreign policy cannot be conducted on the basis of public opinion polls, the results of a project of Seventh District Rep. Melvin Laird should be examined as worthy of what the voters are thinking about if there can be no improvement in the situation in Viet Nam.

Laird's office has announced the tabulation of nearly 10,000 replies sent to residents of his district, which should qualify as a "typical" district for the farming and small cities section of the Middle West. The replies, it should be noted, were received before the start of the latest round of civil strife in South Viet Nam.

But despite the prominence being received by "peace" demonstrations across the nation, only six per cent of those polled supported a flat American withdrawal from South Viet Nam. And a heavy majority supported changes in present military and diplomatic policy with a hope of improving the existing situation.

Eighty-six per cent of those polled thought the United States should expand use of sea and air power instead of continuing to increase the ground war. Eighty per cent thought a quarantine should be imposed by the United States on the North Viet Nam port of Haiphong, and 87 per cent thought the United States should take steps to try to stop shipments from our allied nations to North Viet Nam.

The diplomatic policy changes supported by the large majorities, of course, contain risks of enlarging the war and difficulties of accomplishment which cannot be detailed in a yes-or-no opinion poll. The Laird poll, however, provides a basis for a conclusion, that the American objective in South Viet Nam has citizen support.

Dr. Bosch Concedes

The results of the elections in the Dominican Republic some two weeks ago were surprising enough when the overwhelming victory went to Dr. Joaquin Balaguer over the explosive Dr. Juan Bosch. But of even greater surprise has been Dr. Bosch's statement in finally conceding the election.

It took a long time for Dr. Bosch to admit defeat although the returns showed that he was beaten by more than 250,000 votes out of total ballots of 1.2 million. Outside observers from a couple dozen countries had insisted that in general the elections were conducted fairly and without any great signs of fraud or pressure. Nevertheless American opinion doubted that the volatile Dominicans and especially Dr. Bosch would actually call off street riots and the report to force that have characterized most disagreements in that country throughout most of its history.

Dr. Bosch said there was a lot of fraud and most of it against him. His followers were killed, armed members of Dr. Balaguer's party kept friends of Dr. Bosch from voting and ballots in favor of Bosch were discovered at the bottom of the sea. But these proofs cannot change in any great way the general results of the election," said Bosch and then outlined peaceful ways his party should function as an organized opposition.

But the fraud itself apparently was not to be blamed primarily on Dominicans. In many parts of the Americas, including the United States and Cuba, there are experts on fraud who move from country to country affecting the results of supposedly free elections.

This is an amazing statement unless Bosch is merely trying to discourage himself from any alleged ties either to the United States or to Cuba. Are the fraud experts in the United States communists working with Castro? Or are the fraud experts in Cuba old Batista supporters working hand in hand with the CIA?

Opposition to Sawyer Criticized

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for June 14, 1866.

The Crescent appears determined to malign and slander our Representative in Congress (Philetus Sawyer of Ashkosh to the extent of its ability. Here is its last attempt:

"Sawyer Proved a Liar. The ignorant fellow who disgraces the people of this District in Congress has just been proven a liar by Asst. P. M. General Randall."

"Senator Donohue has also from his seat in the Senate, branded Sawyer's statement that the President is intemperate, as wickedly and maliciously false."

"The fact is, Sawyer is such an ignorant old boor that he don't know when he speaks the truth."

We were gratified at finding the following correspondence in the Oshkosh Northwestern of last week. Our readers can rely on it as being better authority than the concern that opposed Mr. Sawyer's election, as the "Common Lumberman" and his never ceased its five year run.

Editor Northwestern: I have noticed lately that several papers hereabouts are making assaults on our worthy and indefatigable Member of Congress, Philetus Sawyer.

"I kindly suggest to them that they had better save their ammunition for other objects than to waste it on so invulnerable a Representative as Philetus Sawyer. I say what I know, having recently been to Washington. Mr. Sawyer is very highly esteemed and respected there for his fidelity and valuable service. He is always found at his post and as firm as a rock on the side of equal rights and justice."

Taylor Writes

June 18 Anniversary of Another American War; Anyone Recall?

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

June 18 is the anniversary of another American war. But it must be little known to most of our youth who, by every survey, know so tragically little about American history.

Taylor

War will never be avoided by having frail friends who are got by frail policies and money. The same goes for the appeasement preachments of the Senator Fulbrights, et al. And as for peace through "world opinion" (which is never defined), or such noises as proposed by Dr. Martin Luther King and others, these are not a design for peace; they are a dangerous emotional doodle.

We've always always had to fight for the security of the United States, probably always will.

Superior statesmanship has avoided several wars.

French Ambassador to London, Jules Dainiac proposed to France in 1623, a detailed carving up of Latin America among the European powers as several areas gained independence from Spain. This led to our counterweight warning the Monroe Doctrine. France backed down and peace was saved.

In 1862, again, a war was avoided by Britain paying peacefully through the nose in the "Alabama" affair, for Chancellor of the Exchequer

William Gladstone's mistake of halting a new nation in the United States under Jefferson Davis. Also, it has been well said that wars are the coincidence of a host of blunders plus the miscalculation of calculated risks.

But the terrible truth is that the equating of life and conflict simply cannot be denied by any student of human behavior and history.

On June 18, 1812, we declared war on England for the second time.

This was the war that saw Washington, D.C., captured, Baltimore cannonaded into cinders, Ohio invaded and the white flag of surrender run up over Detroit.

By the Treaty of Paris the French gave Canada to England in 1763 and relinquished much else here to the inert hands of a declining Spain. We formally gained our independence by a treaty with Great Britain in 1783, but British troops stayed in parts of the United States for more than 10 years. Several other European powers refused to recognize us at all—powerful Portugal until 1791, Russia until 1809. And from 1793 forward the French Revolution likewise entangled us in European quarrels.

The central third of the present United States still belonged to France, Napoleon did not propose to let it go to England. Moreover, he needed money to fight England in Europe. He sold "New France," five times the size of France, to the United States in 1803 for $15 million, the Louisiana Purchase.

Napoleon himself describes his act in memorable words: "This enlargement of its territory consolidates the power of the United States for all time."

Perhaps people will reproach me when in two or three centuries the Americans become too powerful for Europe, but I cannot take so distant a possibility into my calculations in advance."

FAT IN FIRE

Within nine years the fat was in the fire, Great Britain, France and Spain still tried to use us in their battles for land and trade here. And by 1812 this took us to the declaration against Britain, a virtual sea war with France and many engagements with Spain.

For the first two years each land engagement was an American disaster. But our small nation, hardly born, won the war on our lakes and, incredibly, fought throughout the seven seas.

We were defeated off the coast of Chile and again off the coast of Wales, but we broke the clasp of the terrible blockades and at last freed the Caribbean in a great anti-Indian.

On January 8, 1815, British General Sir Edward Pakenham led a frontal assault on Andrew Jackson's earthworks at New Orleans—one of the most unintelligent maneuvers in British military annals. Pakenham was slain, with 2,000 of his troops killed or wounded. We lost 70 men. The battle lasted precisely half an hour. And it remains famous for having occurred, due to slow communications, two weeks after the peace had been signed at Ghent on Christmas Eve, 1814.

God knows, we wish with all our hearts that it were different today. But history drives us relentlessly into taking conflict for granted and our defeat as a permanent objective by someone, somewhere, always.

Sailors Badly Treated On License Violation

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Recently you published an article about two sailors from Great Lakes Naval Station who were caught with Wisconsin fishing licenses instead of paying for commercial licenses. They violated a law by cheating the state out of $6. For this the judge fined them a total of $200 and costs. Yet time after time one reads how these judges turn out far greater violators of law on probation. In the first place a service man in a uniform should be allowed to fish during war without buying any license. Second a fine of the difference would have been enough with a reprimand. And further the type of fish one catches at Fremont at this time of the year is doing the state a favor instead of a crime.

How Will Legislators Explain Spending as They Seek Fall Votes?

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — An almost faultless rule of thumb in legislative politics is that state appropriations tend to expand to cover the treasury resources available.

This report claims no precedence for an earlier suggestion that one of the principal results of the spring legislative session would be a generous expansion of the regular state operating budget approved in 1965, in spite of the fact that the gross spending in that document was far and away the highest in the history of the state.

Wyngaard

The spending spree was virtually predestined when the state's fiscal officers reported to the Legislature the respect of a small but respectable surplus at the end of the biennium. It is fair to mention that they had no choice in the matter. They could not have kept the matter secret. They were required by law to make their report, and as it happened, the Legislature was returning to the capitol at the same time.

Because the Legislature met at such an odd time, and extralegally, in a manner of speaking, the state's total of authorized spending for the present budget period will soar to around $375 million, or about $21 million more than would have been spent if the lawmakers had adjourned last summer or fall after the normal pattern.

But of more lasting import is that the spring session resulted in a total spending commitment for the budget period that is a whopping 33 per cent above the expenditures of the preceding biennium.

One wonders whether these men will cure that historical footnote when they point with pride to their legislative performance record in their solicitation of votes this summer and fall.

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

I should like to read, or hear, just once, about a man with a duce up his sleeve, a man who was alive and not kicking, a man who was not all things to all men, a man who was at death's window, and a man who was not Grand as well as Old.

And just once, a look and a stow, without a barrel, a fish without a hook, a flash in the pot, a hook that is either eaten or kept, a bait in the wrong place, cooks who improve the broth, a profitable darkness, a velvet hand in an iron glove, and a power before the throne.

And just once, an absence that is not prolonged, a ship that does not pass in the night, a belt that is not shot, a burden that is not shouldered, a silence that does not bring, a suspicion that is not sneaking, an anxiety that is not brutal, and an awe that is not ground.

And just once, a document that is signed and sealed but not delivered, a five-foot pole for people only half as bad as the ones we wouldn't touch with a 10-foot pole, and a person who is cool and calm but not collected.

And just once, a flea or a bee instead of a fly in the ointment, a fool's inferno, a charge that is not buried, a row car that is not unveiled, a smugly villain, a cup that overflows, a fully-fledged corpse in the closet, and a tale that does not thereby hang.

And just once, a heart that is worn on the lip or the pocket but not on the sleeve, a woman with closed arms, a sheep in wolf's clothing, 80 weeks food for thoughtlessness, an unlucky star, long shirt, a flicker in every cake, and too little of a good thing.

And just once, an ounce of flesh, midwinter madness, an undisguised blessing, wheels that are not within wheels, a nest that is papered or tawny but not feathered, an analysis that is penultimate, a sight for healthy eyes, a character that is only silver-plated, and time that limps or stutters or runs but does not march.

And just once, a hurting hand, a hood without a crook, by a different token, alligator tears, crying over spit Burgundy, praying with faint demons, drifting together, and killing two swine with one pea.

And just once, the thigh of luxury, the straw that broke the llama's back, the fully-clothed truth, the forehead to the grandstore, the unscholarly gentleman, and the rank without the file.

Rothwell Says Educational Agency Has Exceptionally Strong Staff

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — In a vaudeville manner to local school administrators, retiring State Superintendent Angus Rothwell relates his view that the state Department of Public Instruction has "an exceptionally strong staff" to support his successor William C. Kahl.

Rothwell will quit his elective office July 1 to take over the challenging responsibilities of the chief administrative officer of the enlarged and more powerful Coordinating Committee for Higher Education.

Perhaps with a sidelong look at the prospective election can didacy of his successor a few years hence, Rothwell has warm words of praise for Kahl.

There is little doubt about their sincerity. Rothwell promoted Kahl to high rank in his department and strongly urged Gov. Warren Knowles to appoint Kahl to the top office when he decided to leave it to take the offer of the CCHE chief staff officer.

Melvin O. Larson, a 41 year veteran of the state Motor Vehicle Department and one-time commissioner of the department, intends to retire from state service in January.

Another widely known state officer planning retirement soon is Gordon C. Boardman, for the last two decades press and publications chief of the state Department of Public Instruction.

One of the subtle factors involved in the legislative discontent about salary arrangements is the influence of the corps of professional lobbyists assigned to the capital. An easy way for the professional advocate on the legislative sidelines to make friends and influence people is to speak solicitously about the legislator's untortuous salary lot and some of them have been actively involved in the push for an advancement in legislative salaries.

Curiously enough many of the most expert of the professional lobbyists were themselves legislators at one time at salaries representing only a small fraction of current legislative pay.

But they were content enough to have them.

A risk the Legislature regularly undertakes in distributing job patronage to young students and others is that of breeding competition for its members. Currently half a dozen young legislative assistants are seeking seats in the assembly.

One of the Legislature's most promising freshmen Sen. Robert Warren of Green Bay, had his baptism of fire in the difficult and uncertain partisan caucus negotiations that led to the sweeping new anti-pollution legislation adopted in the spring legislative session.

Warren is one of the men who can truly be described as a principal author of the new act as a member of the study committee which brought in the principal proposals within it and as a member of the conference committee which forged the amendments that finally made it acceptable to both political party majorities in the Senate and Assembly.

A deep involvement in pollution problems has been traditional for Green Bay legislators. A decade and a half ago Fred Kaftan who then held the Brown County Senate seat was principally responsible for an other major pollution law.

The language of office holders continues to intrigue. The other day the University of Wisconsin in administration brought in a request to the State Building Commission for a sizeable capital fund to finance what was described as a "chilled water facility." What was meant was an air conditioning plant to serve future building additions on the campus, but the literal description was not once acknowledged during the discussions that preceded the approval of borrowing money for the project.

The controversy over the location of the two new University of Wisconsin branches in northeastern and southeastern Wisconsin recalls the simpler methods of making such decisions in earlier periods of the state's history.

When the Legislature authorizes new institutions nowadays it delegates the site choices to administrative or quasi-independent officials to assure institutions of the state were it about his extensive reorganization of staff and his methods in promoting men in the school's administration. The comments of a faculty spokesman before the regents indicate that the university head last week were unexpectedly severe and critical. But the support of the governing board

Appleton CAP Cadet Earns Wings Under Scholarship

Civil Air Patrol Cadet Capt. Robert Massey, 1108 N. Morris St., earned his solo wings during the past year.

Massey

Wednesday, the first local solo school trip was to do so. The June graduate of Xavier High School has been cadet commander of the Fox Cities Composite Squadron and a Civil Air Patrol station operator during the past year.

He also has participated in training leadership and squadron community service projects.

Michigan School.

Massey plans to attend the Michigan School of Mines, Houghton, this fall. In addition to his Civil Air Patrol activities, he is a member of the Fox Valley Amateur Radio Club.

In order to raise money for solo scholarships, local cadets set up various fund raising projects. Cadets winning solo scholarships are entitled to flight training through their solo flight and a few additional hours to orientation.

Flight training provided by solo scholarships is given by instructors at Max's Air Service Training Center.

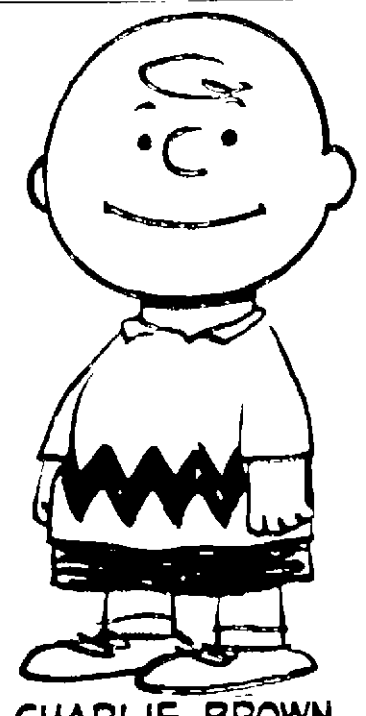

In an effort to expand its training potential, the Fox Cities unit has launched a fund raising program to build a training center at the Outagamie County Airport.

Currently, the squadron is using borrowed classroom facilities at the Wilson Junior High School, and the records have to be moved for each meeting. Other office activities are carried on in the homes of the members.

Major Edwin Roberts, squadron commander, says that the squadron will be able to quadruple the potential with the proposed center.

Squadron headquarters are currently housed in the commander's home.

Lesson in English

Words Often Misused: The use of groom, for bridegroom, is colloquial, and should be avoided. Often Mispronounced: Cuirass (piece of armor). Pronounce kwee-rass, accent second syllable. Often Misspelled: Oracle (counsel). Auricle (external ear). Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's Word: Tautology: redundancy consisting of needless repetition of meaning in other words, as "Visible to the eye," and "Audible to the ear." (Pronounce: taw-tah-oh-jee, accent on second syllable).
